Data Management Solutions (DMS)

Announces Southwest Energy GOES LIVE WITH GASPRO

After a successful one month implementation project Southwest Energy goes live with GasPro software

Southwest Energy L.P. (Southwest) chose Data Management Solutions' (DMS) GasPro product as their new gas management solution in August 2005. After a one month implementation project done in partnership with DMS, Southwest is set to go live with their new software as of September, 2005.

For nearly half a decade, Southwest has been a successful midstream marketer in the natural gas industry focused on the Mid-West, Gulf Coast, and East Coast regions. They specialize in supply aggregation, sales, and logistical delivery for customers with a commitment to experience and integrity. They are committed to providing the highest level of service for their customers.

GasPro's proven implementation process is what allows DMS to quickly provide solutions for their clients, and Southwest is the latest satisfied client. DMS maintains their 100% satisfaction implementation record with this latest successful partnership with Southwest. The implementation project involved loading of source information (3rd parties, contracts, pipelines, accounting information, etc.), training users (administrators, traders, schedulers, accounting staff, etc.) on use of the product. With over 100 years of combined industry experience, Southwest found all the key elements of gas marketing in GasPro easy to learn and easy to use. Following the initial data load and training of users, Southwest began using the system for their September business. For more success stories visit the DMS website at www.dms-houston.com.
